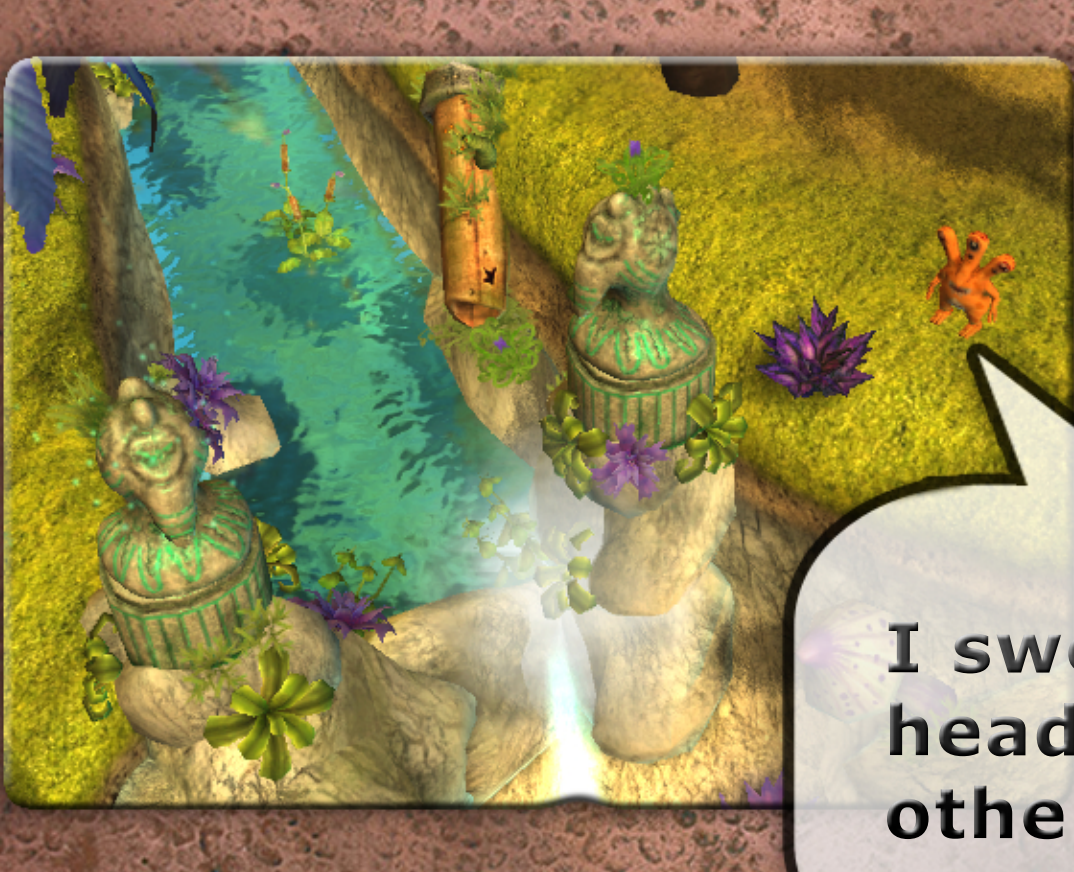
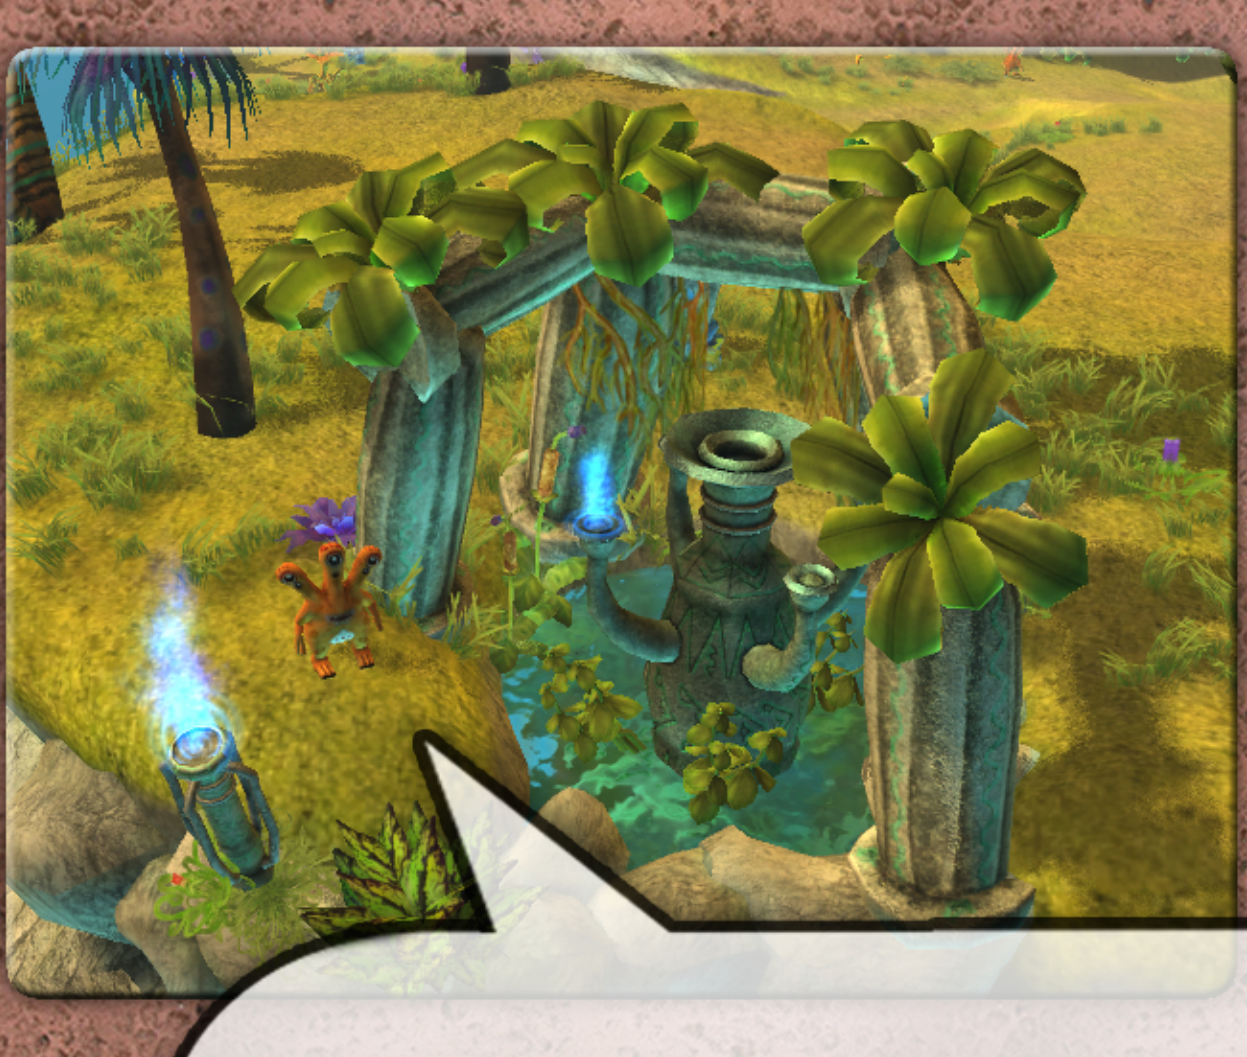
THE MIMS Beginning SECRETS

PRAYERS TO THE GOD



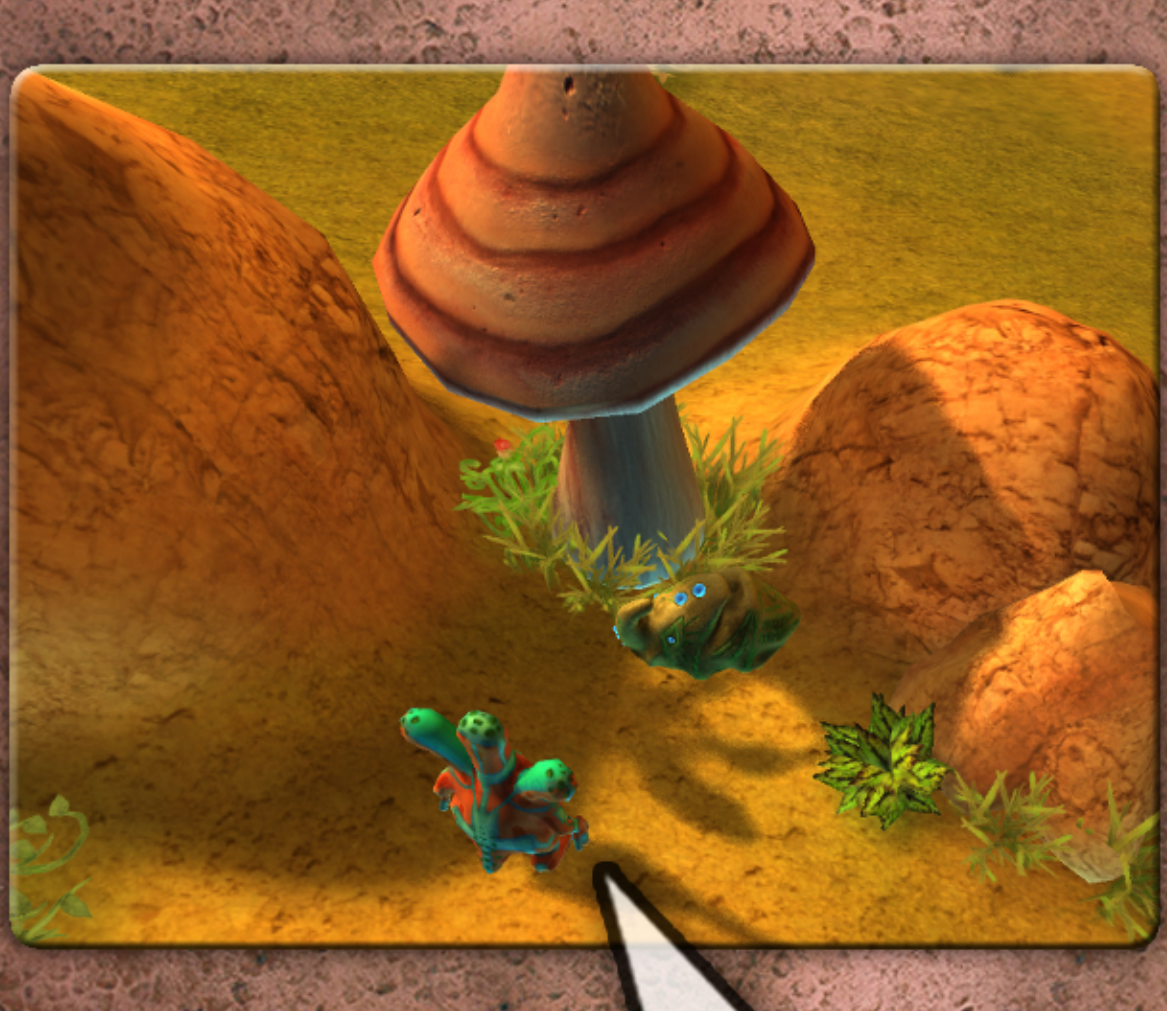
I swear that this chicken head statue looked the other way yesterday.

SECURING THE ISLAND



Wow, I was able to light this torch. It gives such a nice flame, feels like energy is filling inside of me.
I got to find some more of those.
Looking at this strange fountain, there might be four of those.

GREAT CANYON



I cannot believe it. A green scarab, how lucky. As I remember there is an urban legend that says: whoever finds five scarabs will be granted invisibility from his enemies.
Of course, it is only a legend. There is no way there exists such an uscientific theory, there are no ghosts dragons and such, so naturally a miracle like this is just a superstition.

I'm gonna leave it here, but I have heard people talking about a story mothers tells to their children that reveals all the places green scarabs are hidden in.

It goes soemething like this...

Once upone a time there were five green scarabs that loved to play hide and seek.
They liked it so much that they would play it every day.
Scarabs were not particularly smart and each of them always hid in a specific place so finding them was really easy.
One hated the rain so he always hid under umbrella.
Second loved chalice flower so he was bound to be close to it.
Third liked to look at the birds.
Fourth was always inspired by the endless vistas.
Fifth was first's younger brother and always did as he does.
One day, five of them as usual decided to play their favorite game.
They hid and waited, and waited, and waited.
Minutes passed, hours, days, seasons and later
even years.
Non of them were found.
Their legs became numb, their skin hard like stone,
and they all turned into green lifeless pieces of rocks.

Remember kids, before you start to hide never forget to choose the seeker.

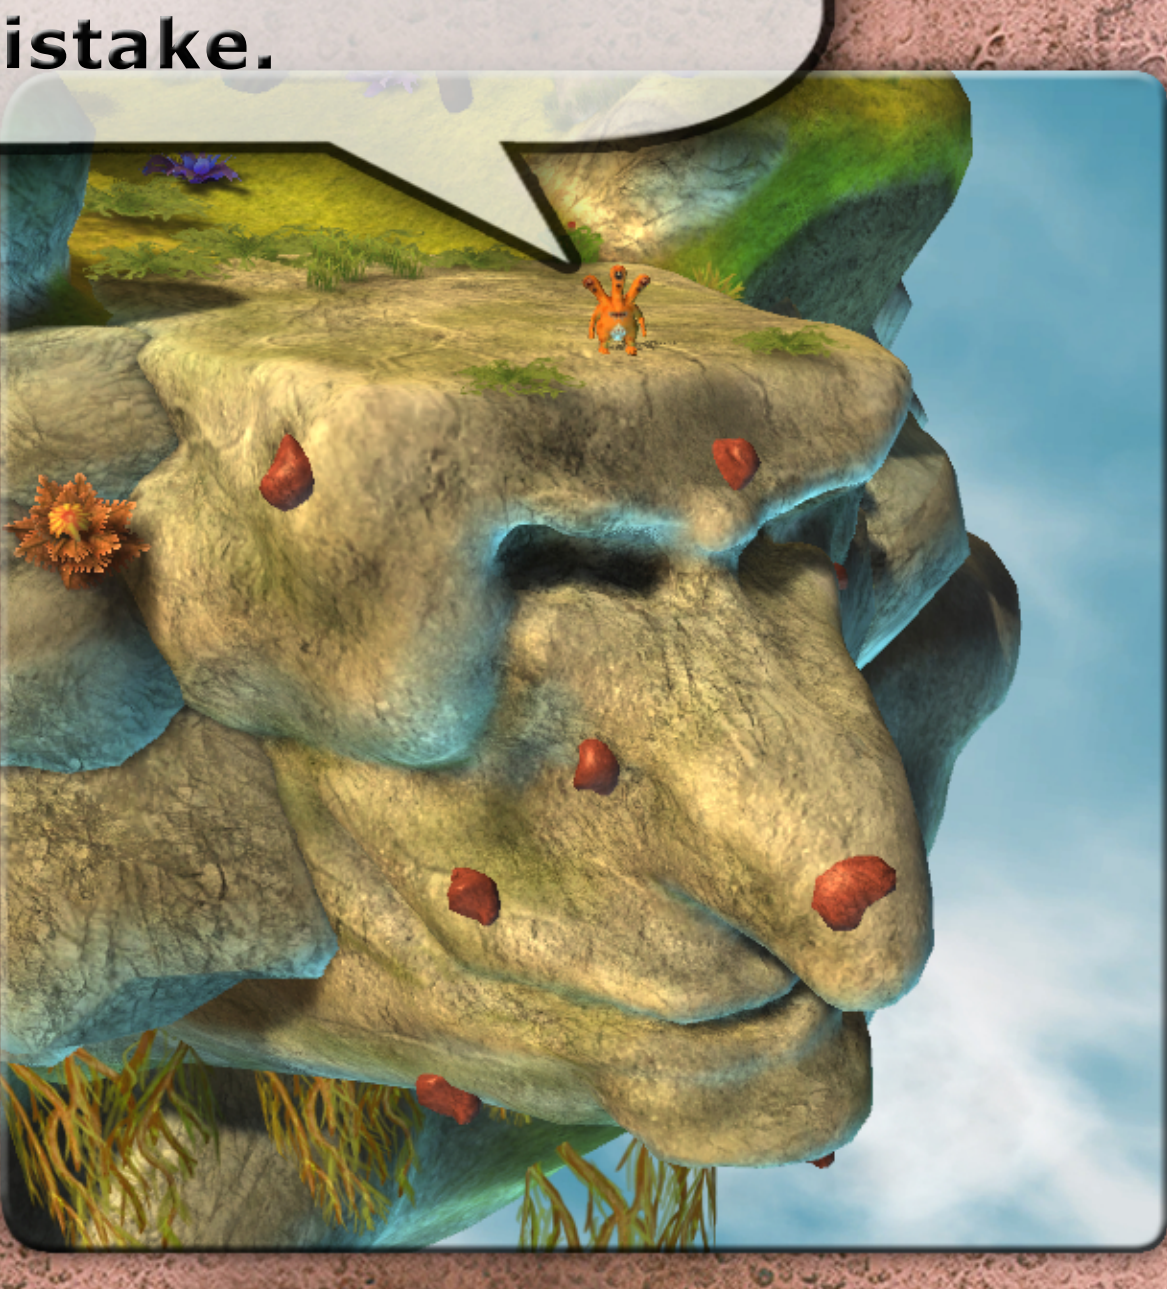
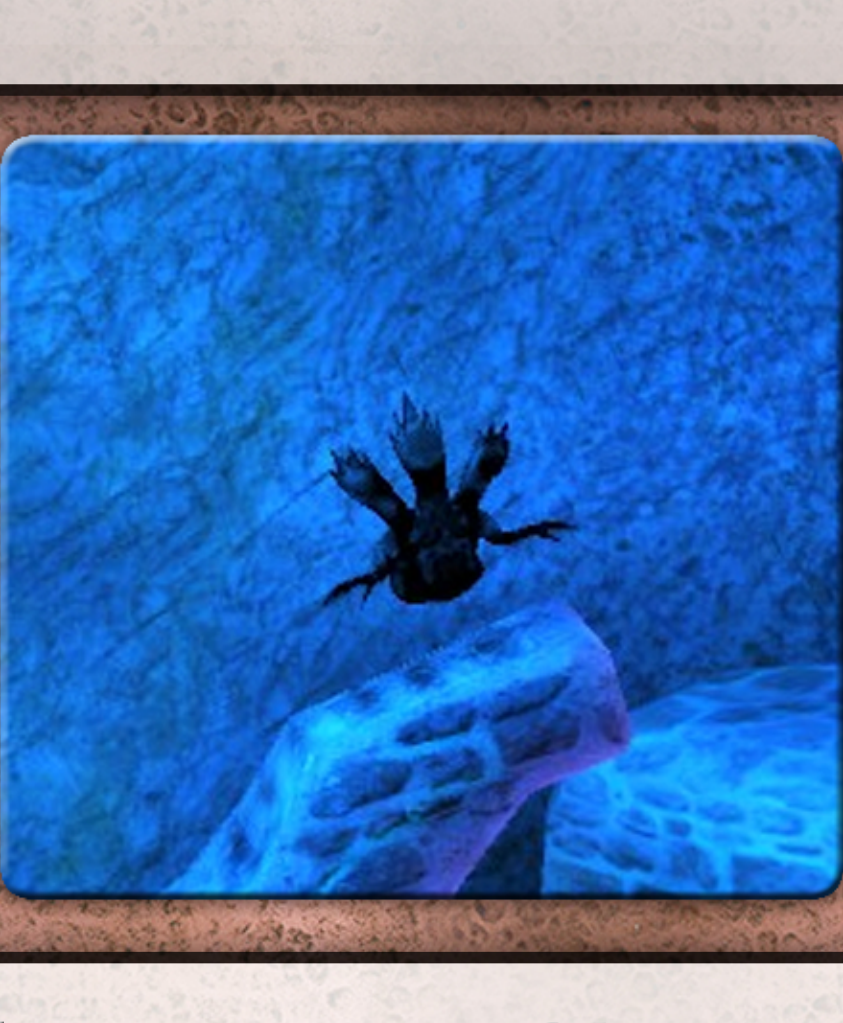
MENTAL CONNECTION

How can I make the witch more pretty when I don't see any stoned witches in here. There must be some kind of a mistake.



OLD TOWN

During his scouting trip the mims worker noticed an unusual being.

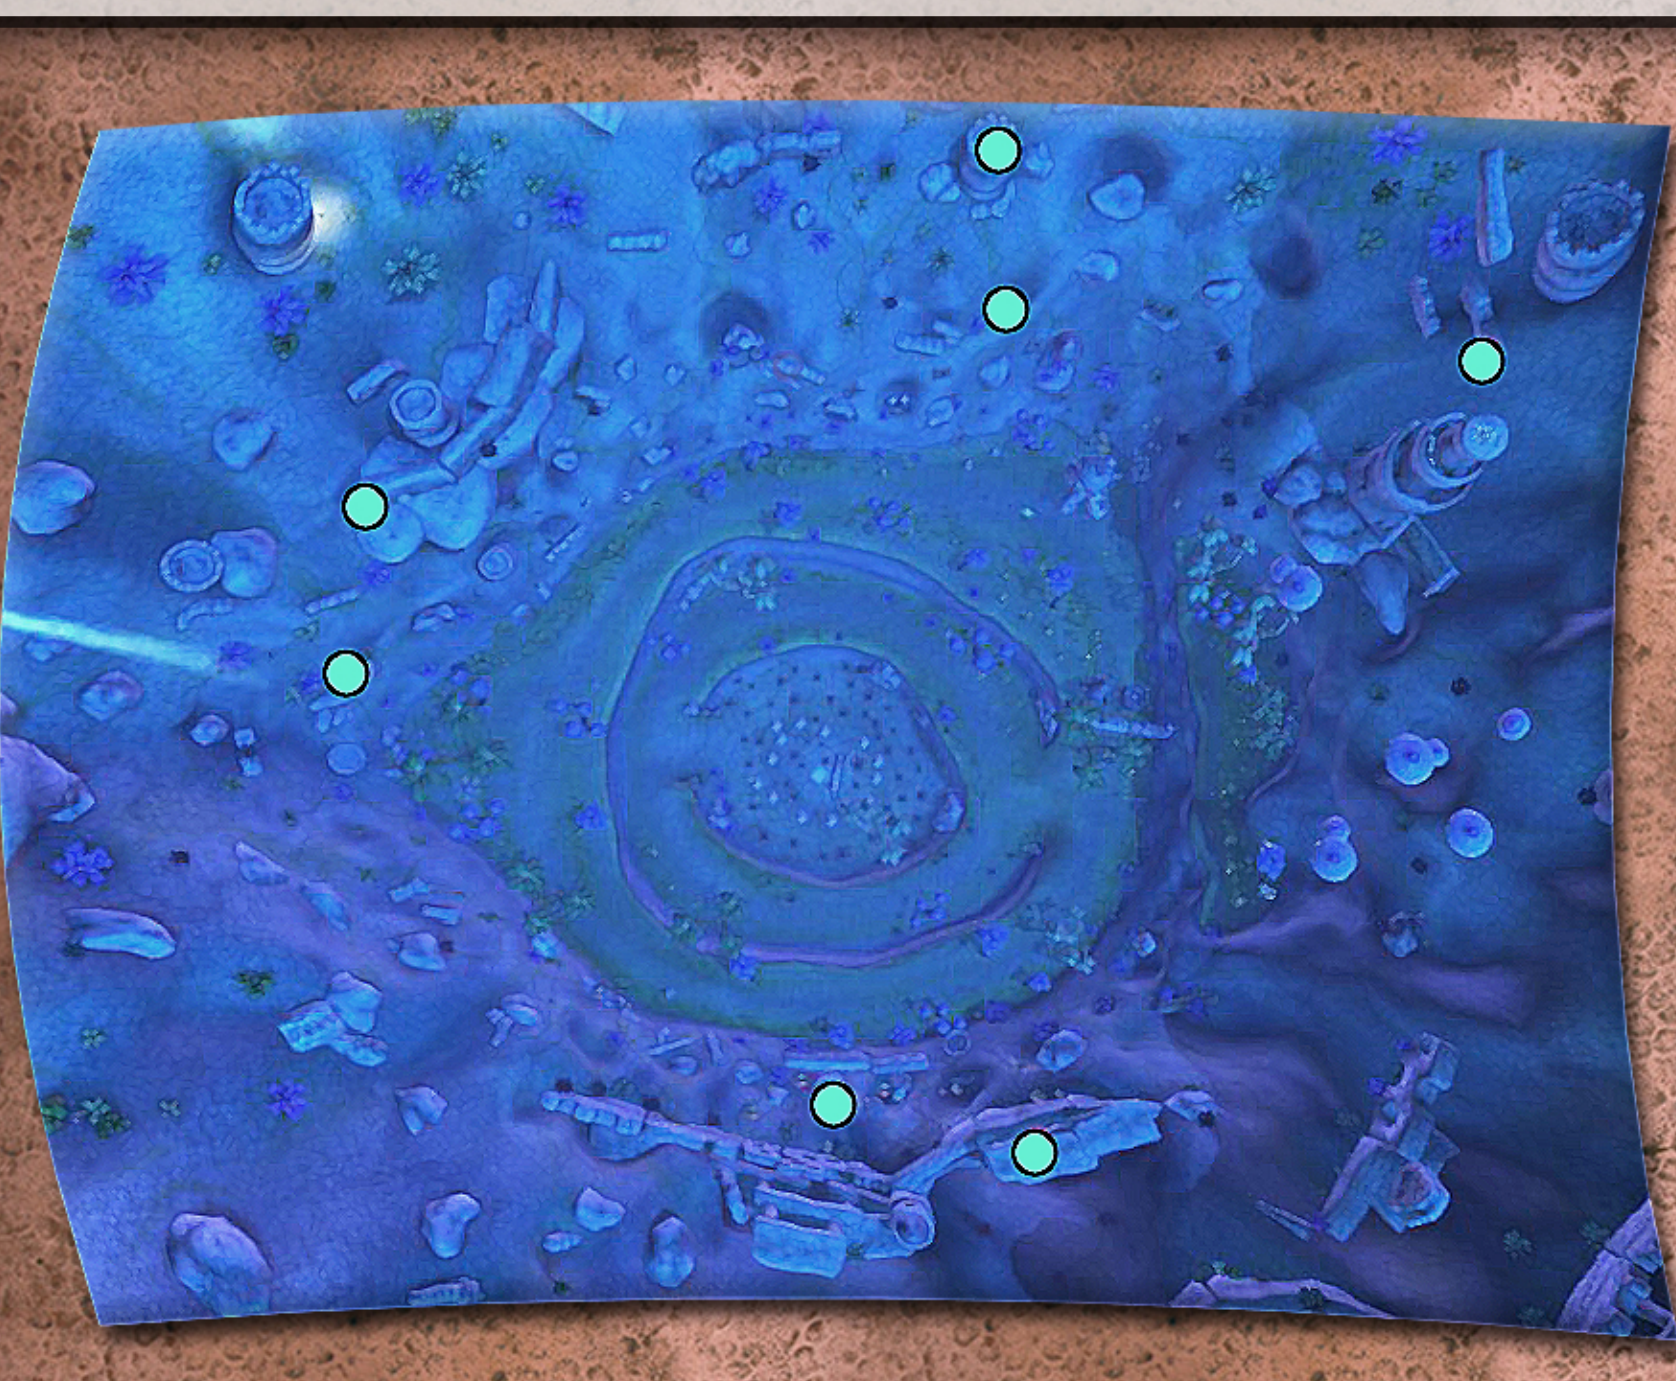


He knew the importance of his discovery and contacted his superior who ordered a special division to investigate.

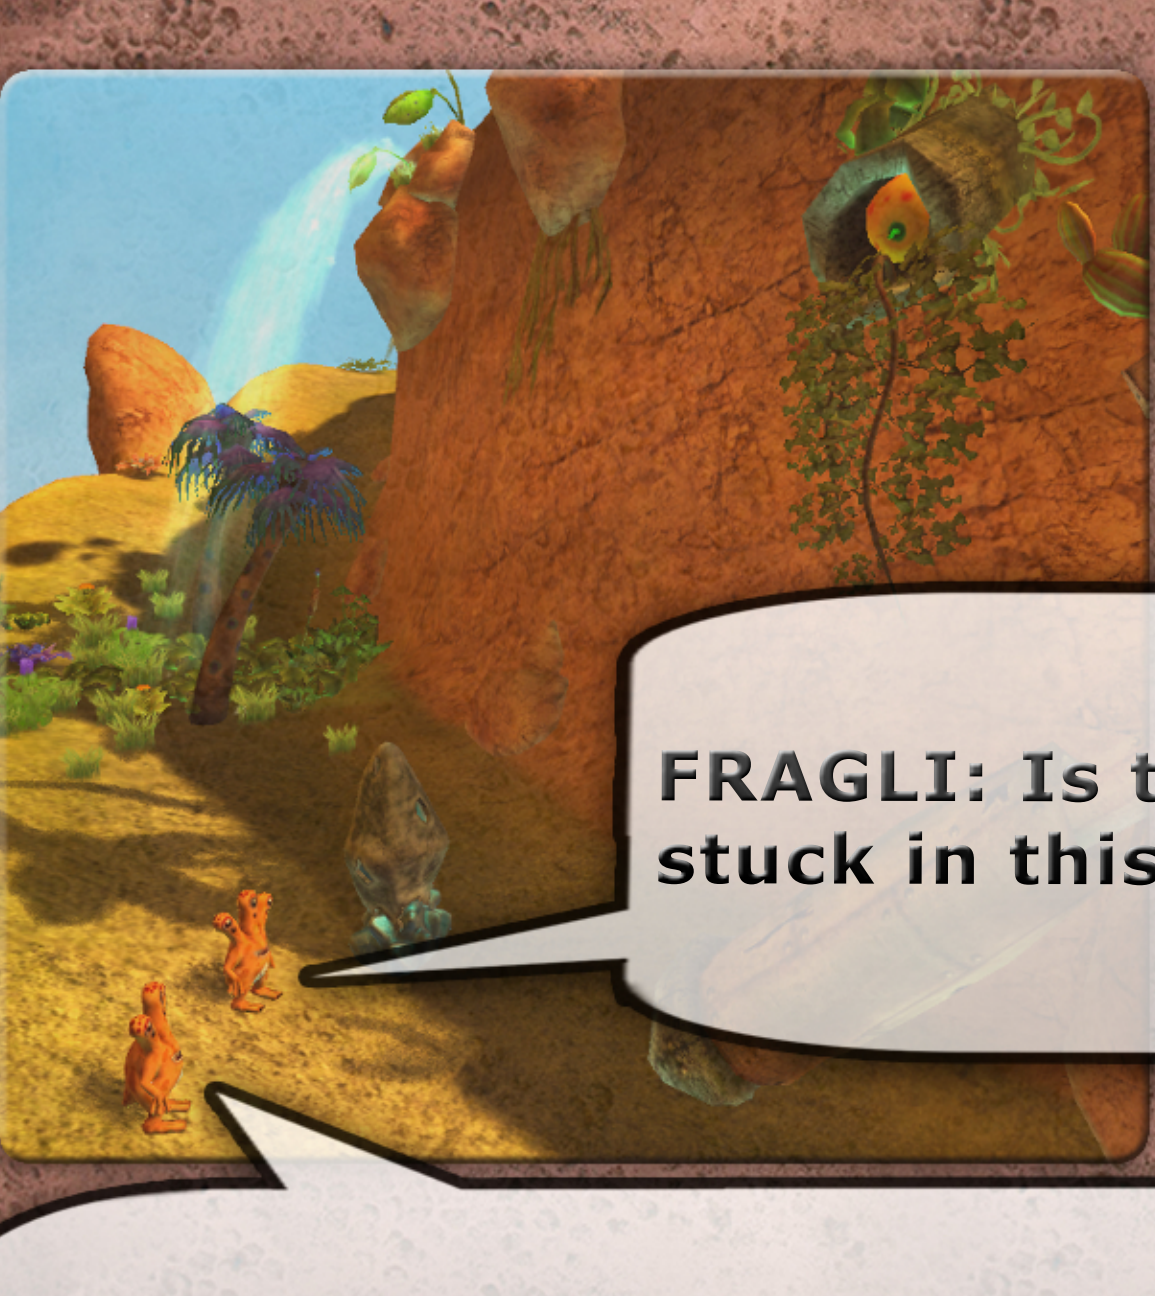
It was discovered that these are the remnants of a vicious ghosts that haunted an ancient ruined city.

Without a Shaman who could use his spiritual power to lift the curse, they decided not to interfere.

In the end they prepared a map with locations of all the wraiths they were able to find.



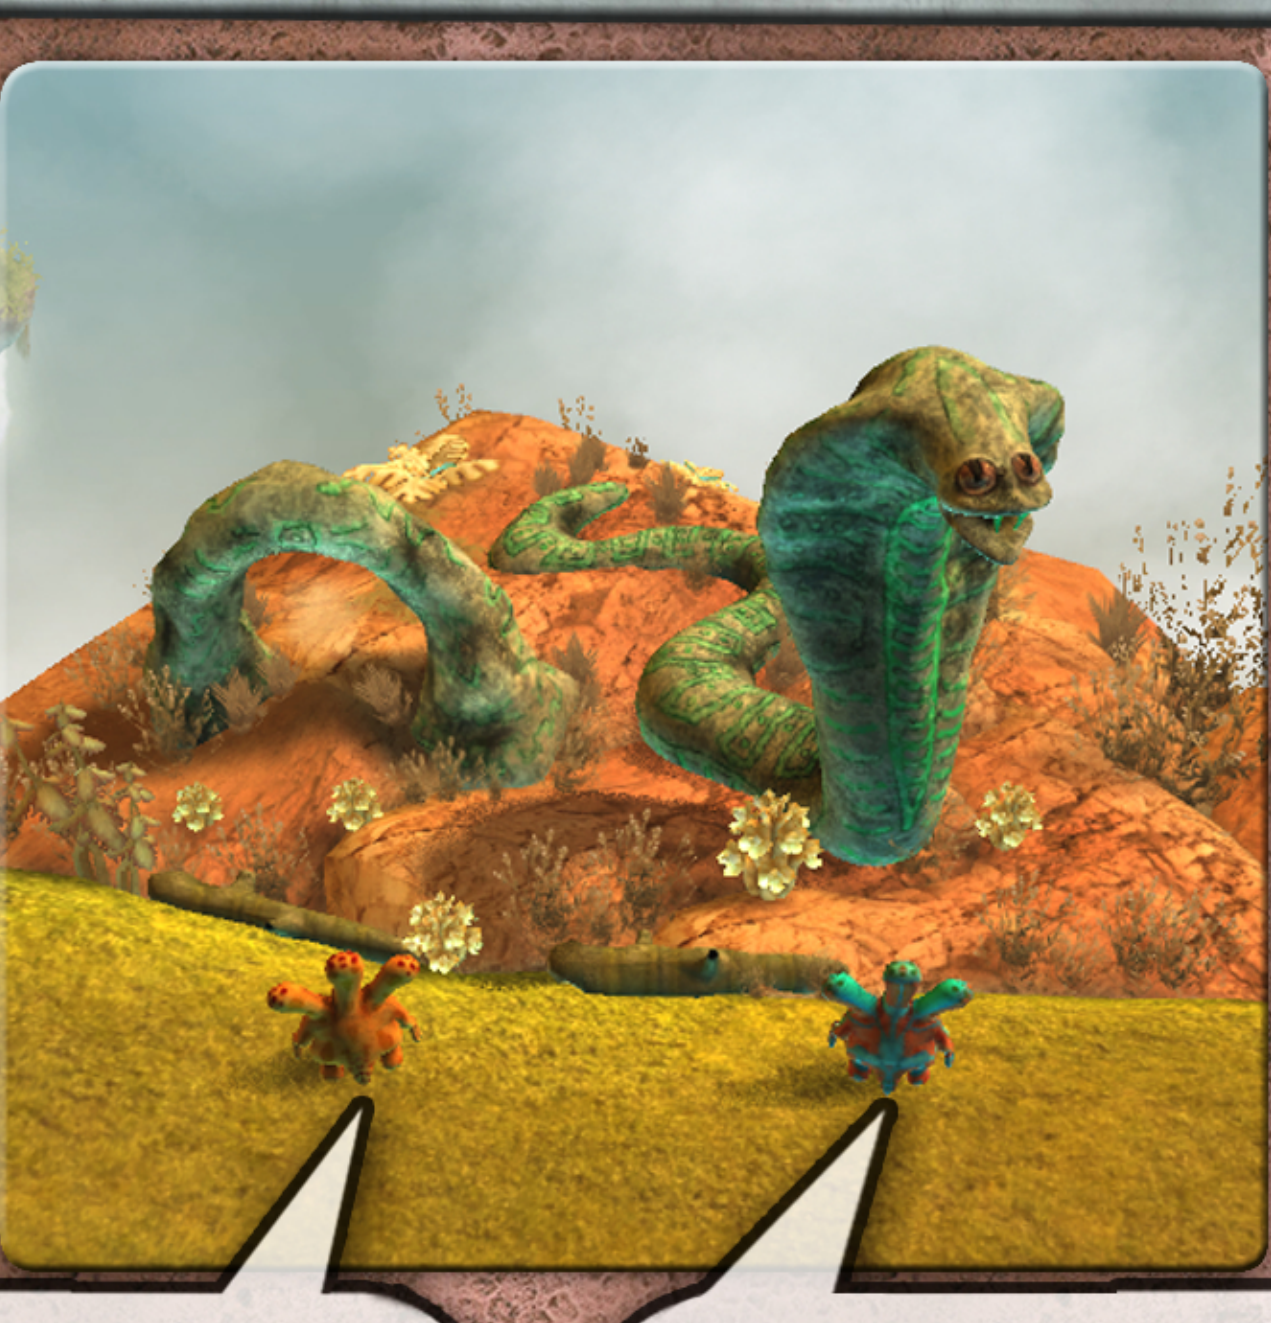
THE BLACK HOLE



FRAGLI: Is there something stuck in this wood log?

GIMLI: Yep, it looks like a fruit to me.

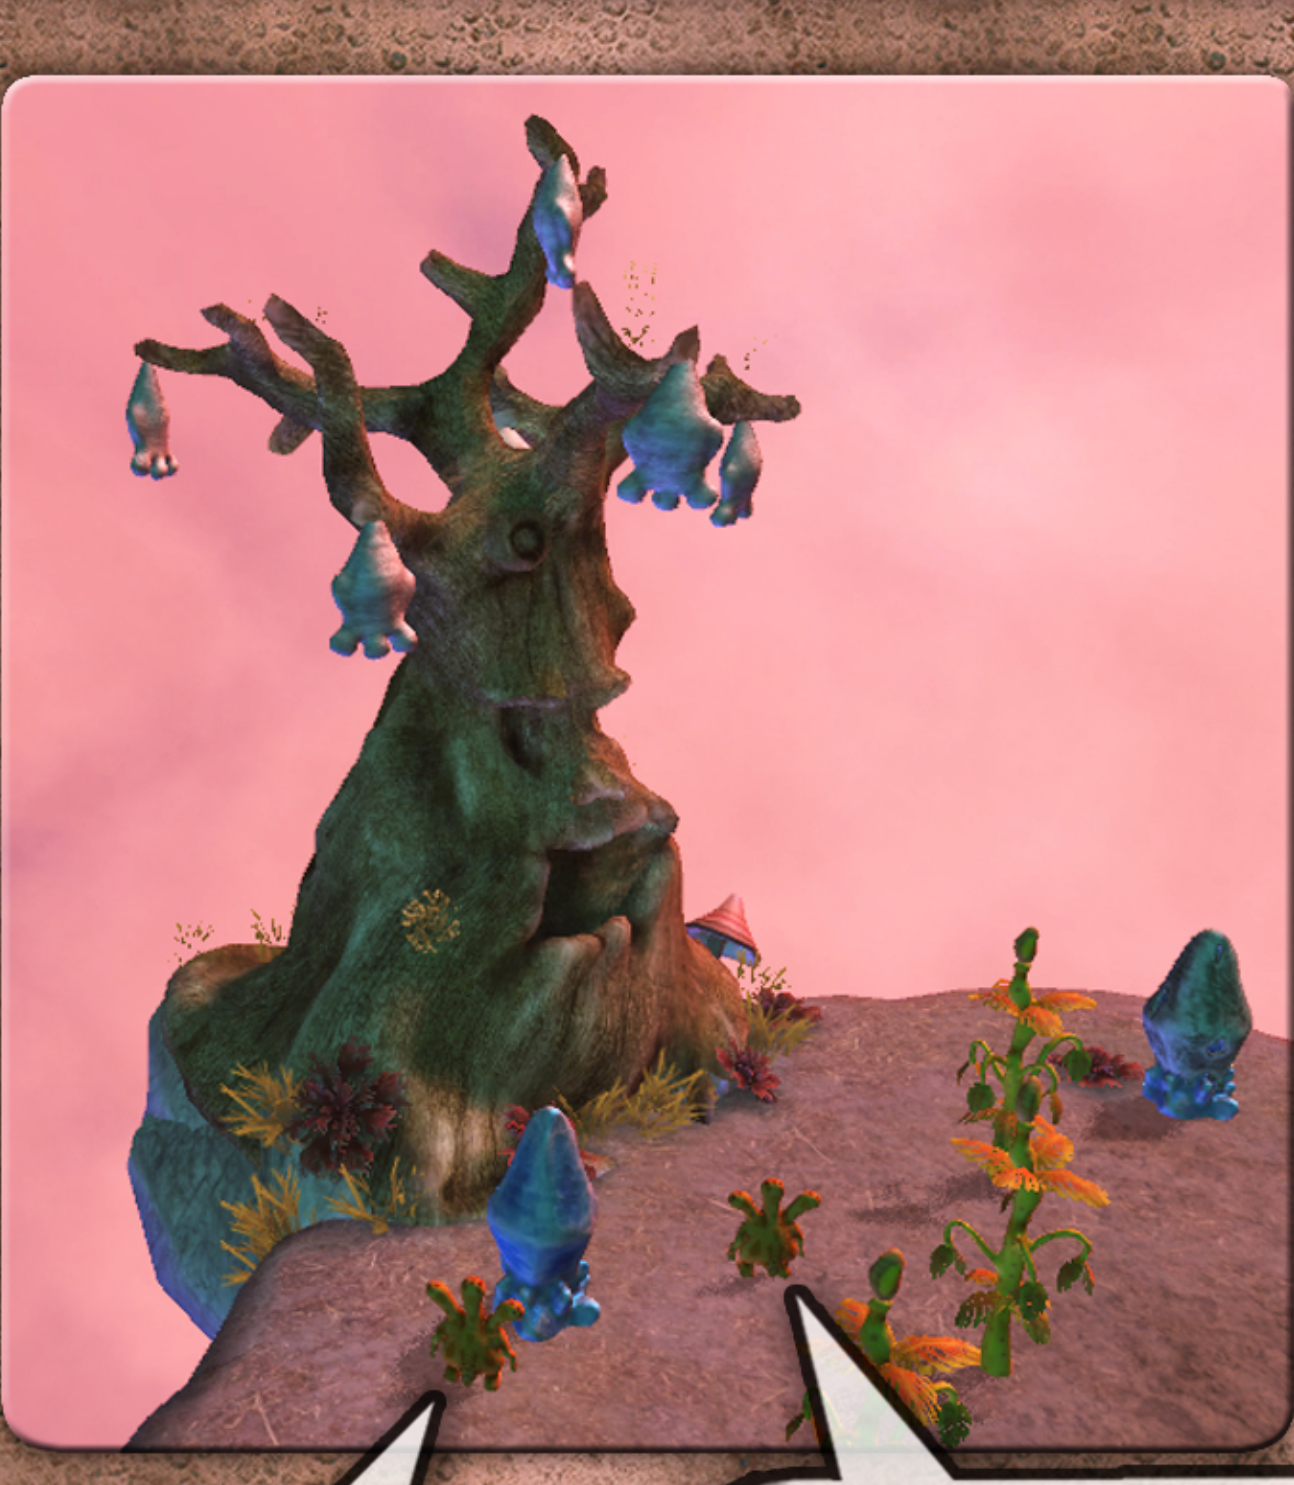
HOT GEYSER



FRAGLI: There is something steamy inside this rock arch. I have seen identical phenomena this morning on another arch.

GUARDI: It looks like there is a connection to this dangerously looking snake statue. I hope that curiosity will not be our doom.

EYES IN THE DARK

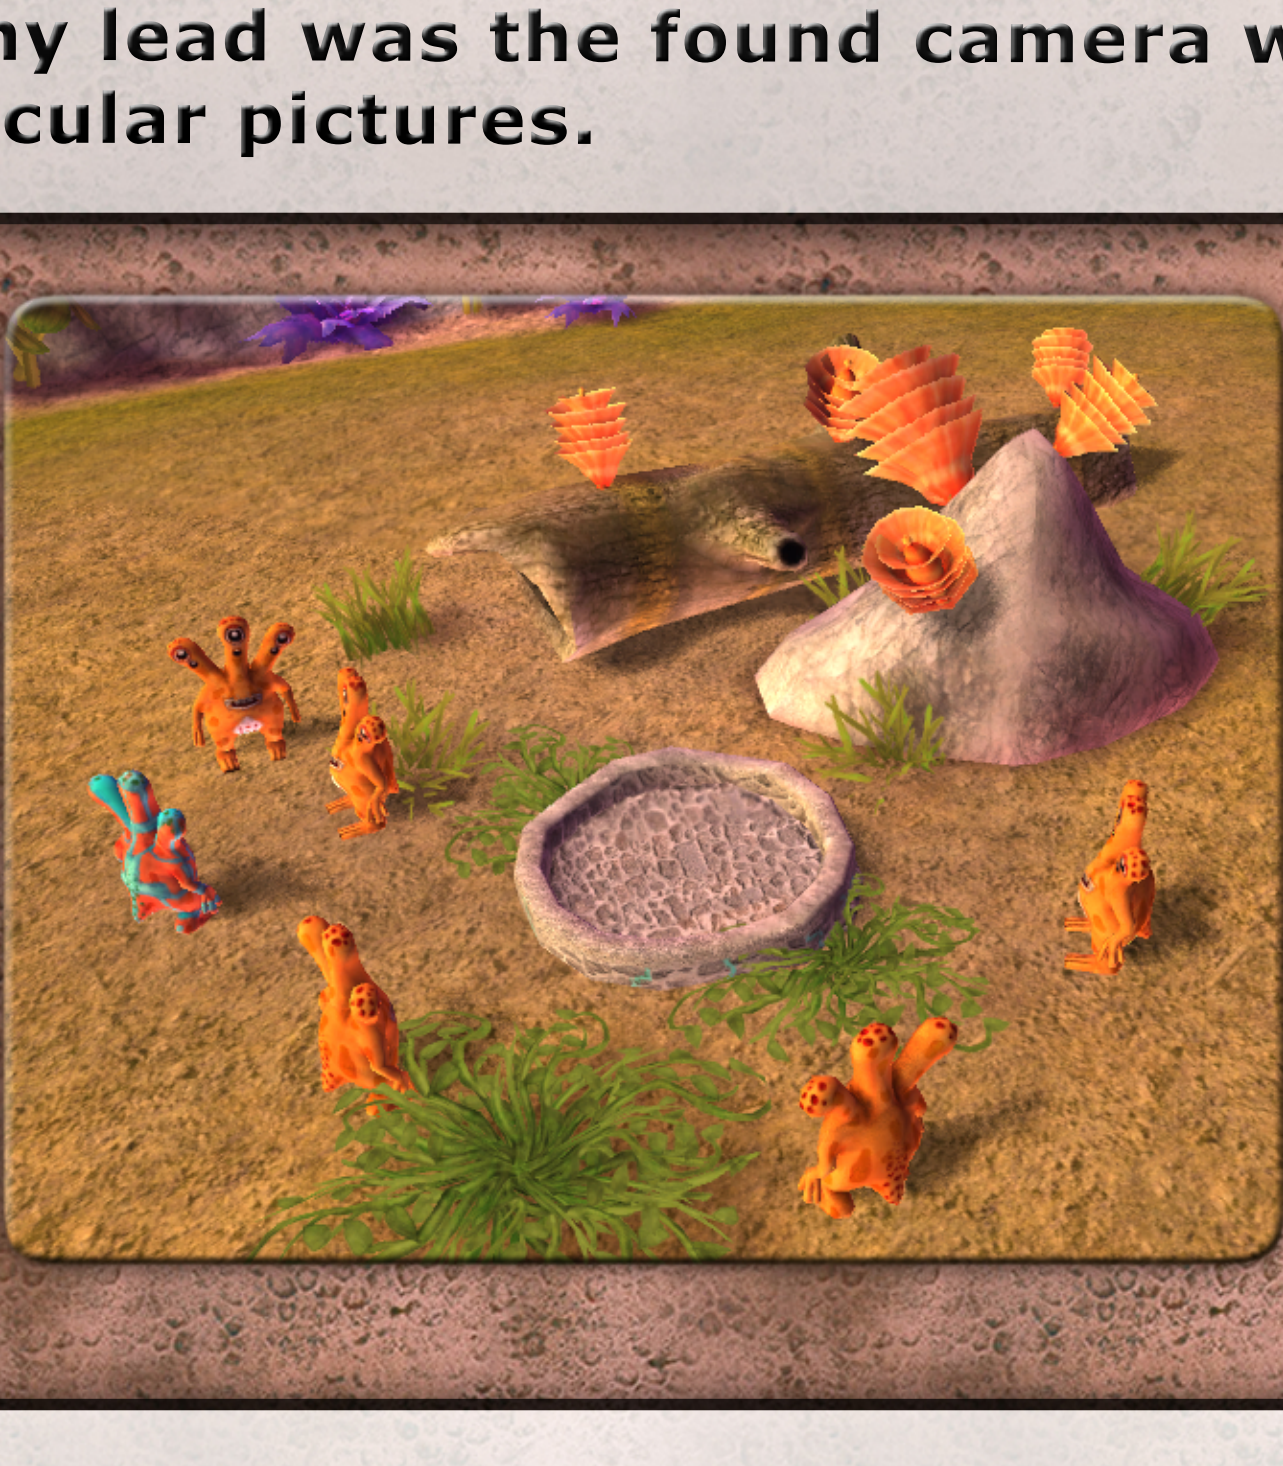


TIMLI: Did you see that? These coocons are moving.

KILI: I see that the Shaman's elixir messed up your brain. Please don't go hallucinating on me now, we have to work on this crystal.

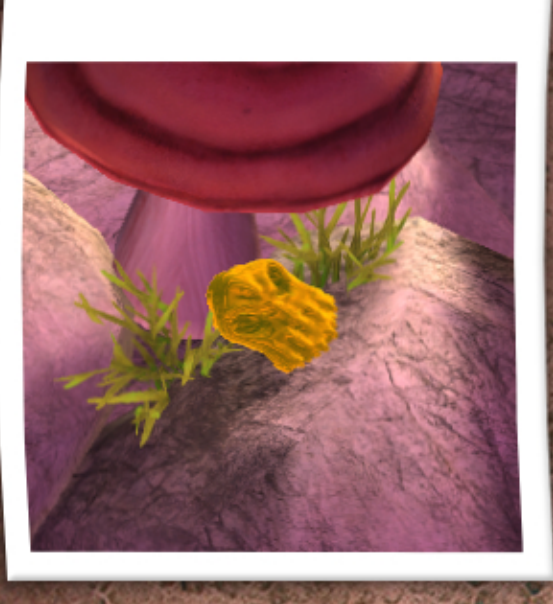
DRAGON MOTHER

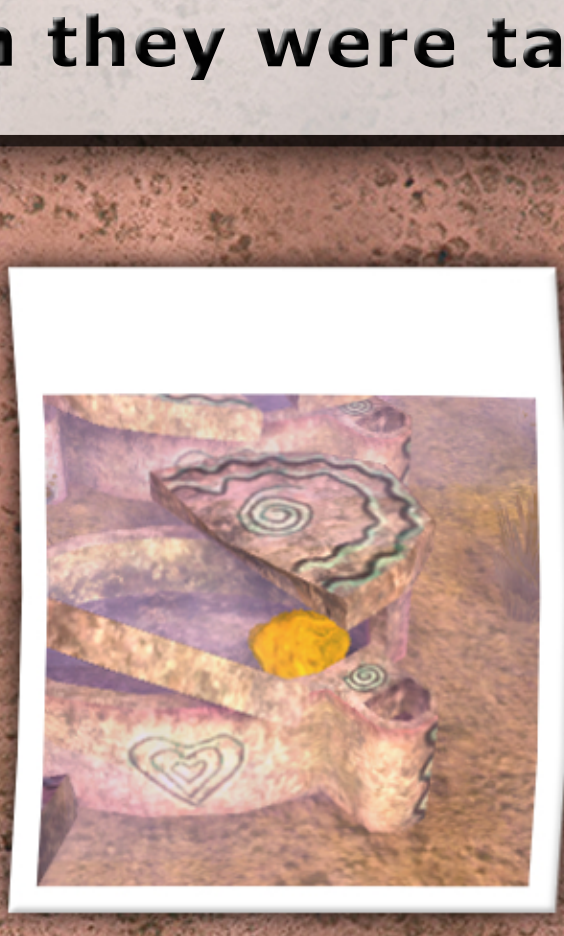
A group of archeologists were ordered to investigate a strange stone circle.
After a few days of work we lost contact with all of them. The only thing that gives as any lead was the found camera with particular pictures.

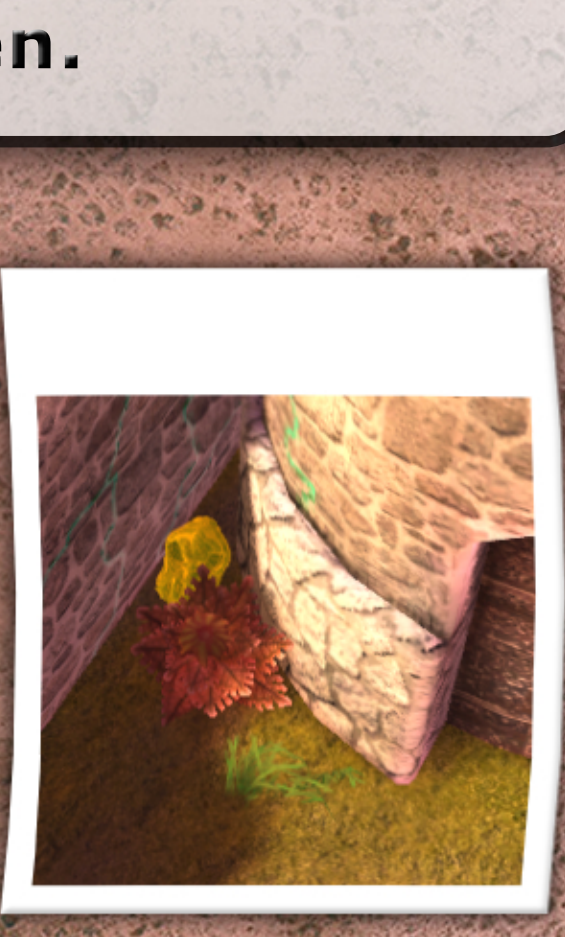


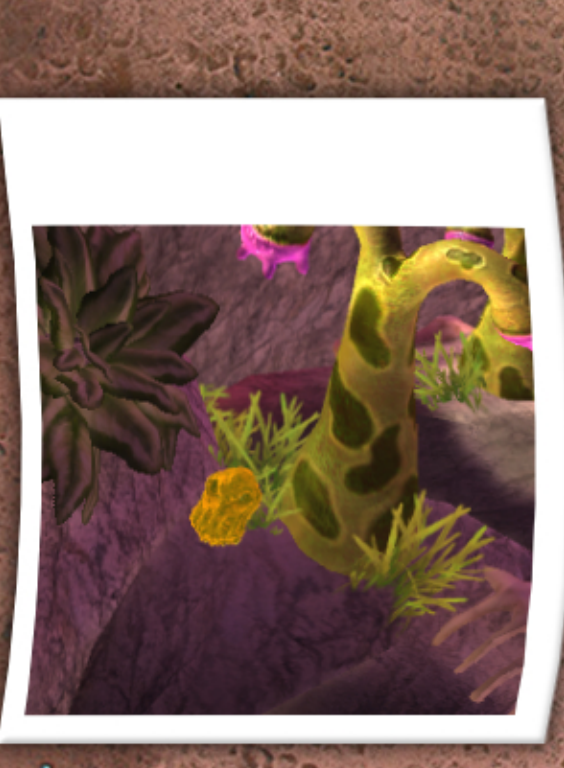
On this picture we see the team standing next to stone circle.

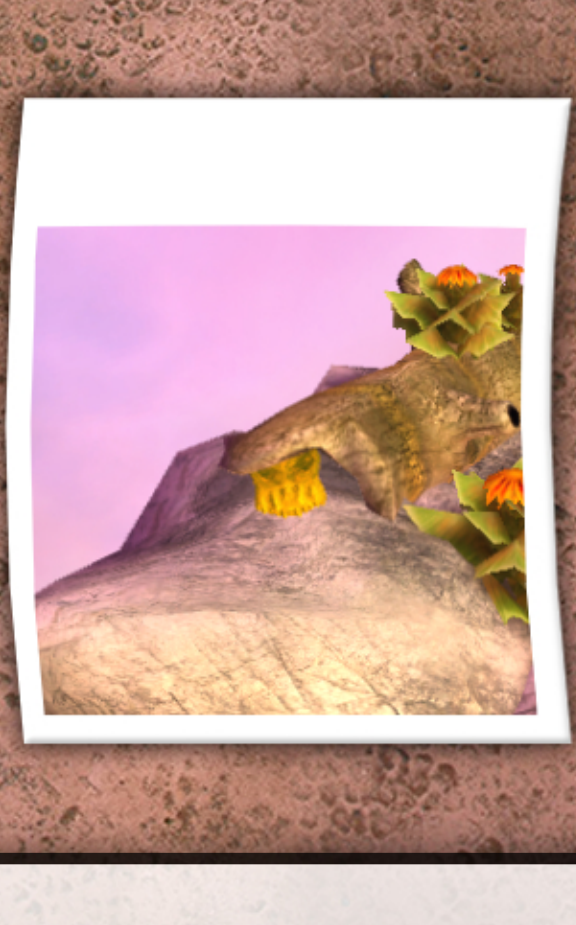
Next series of pictures present strange golden skulls. The pictues are presented in order in which they were taken.

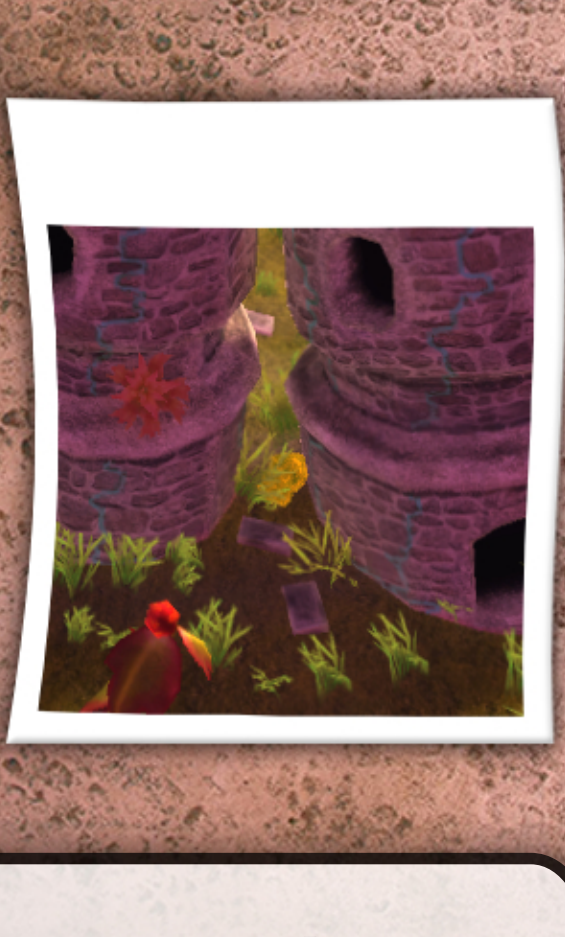












The camera was found close to cementary, there were a signs of fighting and a lot of blood everywhere. No bodies were found and that's why the group is considered missing in action.